

CRREPA is a community organisation formed in 1994 to protect and enhance the natural environment of the Shelley-Rossmoyne foreshore along the Canning River and Bullcreek

CRREPA is widely recognised for its knowledge and experience in river foreshore management and conservation methods. The Foreshore Management Plan is based on many of our observations and recommendations, and resulted from our lobbying.

CRREPA's work benefits many thousands of people who visit the foreshore each year.

Our major on-ground activities are revegetating the foreshore between the riverbank and path with local native plants; planting, weeding and summer-autumn watering. We also maintain a comprehensive inventory of bird observations.

CRREPA has worked closely with the City of Canning to modify drains so their flows are filtered by reed beds that stop a lot of phosphate and nitrogen from polluting the river.

How can you help?

Report any urgent environmental vandalism to Parks and Wildlife Service on 9278 0981, or non-urgent to rivers.info@dbca.wa.gov.au

◆ Become a CRREPA member:

Join us for just one hour caring for the foreshore; weeding, planting or watering.

Join us to learn about the birdlife and foreshore vegetation.

CRREPA has been instrumental in getting four areas along the foreshore classified in the Foreshore Management Plan as 'significant habitat' to protect their vegetation and birdlife.

Through CRREPA you can present your views about foreshore and wetlands management to the City of Canning and the Department of Biodiversity, Conservation and Attractions.

NOTE: Non-participating members are very welcome. We greatly appreciate your moral and financial support.
